In Brief

Tax Forms in Braille

By early February, braille-lending libraries should have free braille copies of the following tax forms and instructions for filing declarations for 1981: Your Federal Income Tax (publication 17), Tax Guide for Small Business (publication 334), and the long form (1040) or short form (1040-A) with instructions for declaring income earned in 1981.

Magazine Corner

National Geographic

Subscribers to National Geographic magazine have a chance every month to visit the four corners of the earth—and outer space—with researchers, scientists, naturalists, archaeologists, and fellow explorers.

Monthly issues carry articles on modern and ancient peoples and places with reports on expeditions and archaeological digs. The magazine has been published since 1888 by the National Geographic Society, a nonprofit organization dedicated to the promotion of geographic research and exploration.

Free subscriptions to National Geographic in braille, grades 1 or 2, or on flexible discs can be ordered from cooperating libraries. The National Geographic Society also publishes National Geographic World, a children's monthly featuring adventure, exploration, and wildlife. Free flexible-disc subscriptions to this children's magazine are also available from cooperating libraries.

Smithsonian Institution

Air and Space Museum

The Smithsonian's National Air and Space Museum has expanded services to disabled visitors. Visually impaired visitors can now orient themselves, starting at the main information desk and inspecting a scale model of the building interior, complete with braille labels.

By calling in advance, visitors can arrange for a tour that includes thermoforms or two-dimensional raised-line drawings of air and space craft and models of the exhibits in the museum's twenty-three galleries.

As a complement to the exhibits, the Smithsonian Institution offers braille brochures describing the museum and cassette tapes with historical information on such pioneering craft as Lindbergh's Spirit of Saint Louis, John Glenn's Friendship 7, and Chuck Yeager's Glamorous Glennis.

Individuals planning to visit the museum can order in advance a cassette recording of the Smithsonian's publication Rockets, Missiles, and Spacecraft of the National Air and Space Museum (RC 16427) from cooperating libraries. Aircraft of the National Air and Space Museum, which was recently recorded on cassettes for the national talking-book collection, is still in production.

To request a special tour, model displays, thermoform drawings, or additional services, call the museum's Education Services Division at (202) 357-1400. The museum is located at Sixth Street and Independence Avenue Southwest, Washington, DC, and is open seven days a week from 10:00 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

Newsstand

The following announcements may be of interest to readers. Materials mentioned here, however, are not part of the NLS program.

Skiing Guide. The San Francisco Lighthouse for the Blind has produced free braille and cassette editions of a Guide to Organizations Providing Skiing Activities for the Visually Impaired. The guide describes programs of some twenty organizations offering instruction, cross-country skiing, and competition. The skiing organizations are located in California, Colorado, and Wisconsin. For a free braille or cassette copy of the guide, write to San Francisco Lighthouse for the Blind, 1155 Mission Street, San Francisco, CA 94103, or call (415) 431-1481.

Books for Adults

The following books were recently produced for the NLS program. Books with the BR code are produced in press braille. Books with the BRA code are thermoform copies of braille books handcopied for NLS by volunteers. To order books with the BR and BRA codes, complete the order form and return it to your braille-lending library.

Because handcopied books are in very limited supply, your requests may have to be placed on a waiting list. Please be prompt to read and return handcopied books within a few weeks for the sake of other readers who are waiting. The average loan period is four weeks. In unusual circumstances, however, readers may keep their volumes longer.

Note: For the information of the reader, a notice may appear immediately following the book description to indicate occurrences of strong language, explicit descriptions of sex, or violence. The word "some" before any of these terms indicates an occasional or infrequent occurrence, as in "some strong language."

Press Braille Nonfiction

Wine BR 4292

Ways of Escape BR 4694
by Graham Greene
2 volumes
Describes the voyages, experiences, and encounters of a lifetime spent in the faraway places where Greene has sought both the material of his novels and an outlet for his own restless need for adventure and escape. Also relates the circumstances and genesis of each of his major works. Sequel to A Sort of Life (BR 1777). 1980.

Executive Dissent: How to Say No and Win BR 4696
by Auren Uris
2 volumes
Written under American Management Associations' auspices, this handbook on how employees should lodge protests and how executives should handle them offers specific advice for both parties preparing for a confrontation. Should be of particular interest to women who are fighting for full acceptance in the management structure. 1978.

A Surgeon's Book of Hope BR 4704
by William A. Nolen, M.D.
2 volumes
With vivid personal anecdotes, Dr. Nolen presents inspirational case histories of people who were given up for dead—and lived. Included is a seven-year-old leukemic boy who was cured after four years of chemotherapy; a now-healthy young mother whose life was saved by a kidney transplant; and a young man rescued from seemingly certain death by an operation for a perforated ulcer. 1980.

Treasures in Clay: The Autobiography of Fulton J. Sheen BR 4709
by Fulton J. Sheen
3 volumes
This wide-ranging memoir of the late archbishop covers his life and vocation from the early years in El Paso, Illinois, through his academic experience, mission travels, and media stardom. Includes many anecdotes from his career. 1980.

The Burning Bed BR 4716
by Faith McNulty
4 volumes
Describes the life of Francine Hughes from her early years through her trial for murder in a small town in Michigan in 1977. Married to Mickey Hughes in 1963 when she was sixteen and he was eighteen, Francine had four children whom she struggled to feed while enduring physical torture at the hands of her husband. Despairing of her life, she one day set fire to the room where he slept and then reported it to the police, but it was too late to save her husband. 1980.

Minnie Pearl: An Autobiography BR 4718
by Minnie Pearl with Joan Dew
3 volumes
With anecdotes from both personal and professional life, the popular country entertainer shares her early aspirations of becoming a dramatic actress to her success as a gifted comic. Some of her experiences include an embarrassing comedy routine as a last-minute contestant in a beauty pageant and an encounter with the looser morals of "show biz" on the traveling minstrel circuit. 1980.

Army Brat: A Memoir BR 4720
by William Jay Smith
2 volumes
The son of an enlisted man, a corporal in the Sixth Infantry Band, offers a frequently comic account of regular Army life spent in and around Jefferson Barracks, Missouri, during 1921–1941. A record of Smith's artistic development as a poet emerges, as does a moving portrait of his father—a gambler, drinker, and bootlegger. 1980.

Three Mile Island BR 4744
by Mark Stephens
3 volumes
Offers a clear and concise overview of the problems that occurred at the Three Mile Island nuclear power plant in March and April 1979. The author, a journalist and communications consultant who served on the presidential commission that later investigated the incident, narrates an hour-by-hour scenario of what really happened. 1980.

Whatever Happened to Judy? BR 4748
by Sandra Judy Hampton with Lee Hultquist
1 volume
Twenty-five years after a widely publicized child-abuse trial, the author recounts the eight years of beatings that culminated in her being blinded at age eleven by her stepmother. Sent to live in a school for the blind, Judy is introduced to religion, which helps in her emotional recovery. Today she is happily married and the mother of two children. Violence. 1980.

No More Back Trouble Book: Relief and Prevention BR 4758

Guide with emphasis on how to avoid back problems and ways of relieving back pain. The complex anatomy of the spine is explained in layman's language, and the causes and treatment of back problems are discussed. 1980.

Sound Sleep BR 4760
by Quentin Regestein with James R. Rechs
2 volumes
A staff member of Harvard University Sleep

Clinic and a medical writer discuss sleep disturbances, their causes, and some corrective measures. Based on specialized research, the text emphasizes facts and dispels some widely held fancies about sleep. Although some individuals may be innately predisposed toward insomnia, the authors believe most persons can modify their behavior to improve sleep patterns. 1980.

Animal Days BR 4764
by Desmond Morris
3 volumes
Before he wrote the bestselling The Naked Ape (TB 2090) Desmond Morris had achieved wide recognition for his weekly TV programs at the London Zoo and for promoting chimpanzee art. Here he tells us about his background in a humorous autobiography that begins with his student days and his choice of a career in biology rather than art. 1979.

Press Braille Fiction

A Conspiracy of Poisons BR 3790
by J. G. Jeffreys
3 volumes
In the year of 1804, the ace of Bow Street Runners, resourceful, womanizing Jeremy Sturrock, and his dreadful clerk, Master Maggsy, are called on to investigate a Napoleonic plot which may threaten Britain. The trail leads from a beautiful but mysteriously poisoned prostitute to the salons of a fashionable brothel. 1977.

Curt Ross, their leader, is caught by the winds of change and the power of a love affair. Strong language. 1980.

Clear Light of Day BR 4701

by Anita Desai

2 volumes

Portrait of middle-class Indian life in Old Delhi in 1947, around the time of partition and independence. Centers on the Das family, which consists of a diabetic mother, an almost nonexistent father who shuttles from his insurance business to the club, a widowed aunt, three sons, and timid Tara, who escapes the confusion by marrying an ambitious diplomat. 1980.

Tilly BR 4703

by Catherine Cookson

4 volumes

During the early reign of Queen Victoria, teenage orphan Tilly Trotter lives with her widowed grandmother, who dies after their place is set afire. Homeless Tilly is hired by mine owner Mark Sopwith to be nursemaid to his four rambunctious children, whom she is able to handle. Later she becomes Mark's housekeeper, and affection grows into love. Some strong language. 1980.

A Very Private War BR 4705

by Jon Cleary

3 volumes

During World War II in the South Pacific, two New Britain planters—expatriate American Con Mullane, a onetime New York Yankee pitcher, and Frank Vokes, a gawky Aussie youth—are a part of the Islands Coast-watching Service allied with the Royal Australian Navy. When they receive orders to go to Rabaul, a major base, and report on the enemy's response to the American invasion of Guadalcanal, they almost meet disaster. Strong language and some explicit descriptions of sex. 1980.

Ghosts BR 4706

by Ed McBain

2 volumes

The murder of the writer of a bestselling ghost story thrusts Detective Steve Carella into an investigation that is as bizarre as most cases are routine. Carella reluctantly follows the lover of the dead man to an extraordinary confrontation in the deserted Massachusetts beach house where the ghost story was written. Some strong language. 1980.

Poinciana BR 4708

by Phyllis A. Whitney

Robin Stone, a ruthless television titan, is loved by three women: a beautiful and doomed model; an ambitious young actress; and a rich, married aristocrat desperate for love. Robin is the love machine. Strong language and explicit descriptions of sex. Bestseller 1969.

Myself as Witness BRA 16480
by James Goldman
7 volumes
Historical novel offers a reappraisal of John Plantagenet, the last child of Henry II and Eleanor of Aquitane and signer of the Magna Carta. Through the eyes of Giraldus Cambrensis, a Welsh cleric and scholar, King John is depicted as a complex, volatile figure given to sudden rages, but also a charming man. Some strong language. 1979.

Inheritance BRA 16481
by Owen Brookes
6 volumes
An occult tale of a group of children with paranormal powers, set in London with flashbacks to earlier events in Europe and America. The woman who fosters their power and has abilities of her own plunges an unsuspecting family into an intricate web of revenge. 1980.

The Sleeper BRA 16484
by Eric Clark
5 volumes
British Intelligence is determined to get the goods on Sir Joseph Banks, an adviser to the Prime Minister, who is suspected of leaking military secrets to Russia. James Fenn, an English ex-journalist living with his family near Malta and known by the British to be a Soviet sleeper spy, is now activated to get the lowdown on Sir Joseph. Fenn reluctantly accepts and falls in love with Sir Joseph's beautiful but unstable daughter. Some strong language and some explicit descriptions of sex. 1980.

The Sixth Commandment BRA 16485
by Lawrence Sanders
7 volumes
"Thou shalt not kill" is the theme of this medical detective story in which Nobel Prize winner Gordon Thorndecker, head of a research lab, pushes his experiments beyond theory. Hard-boiled detective Sam Todd, assigned to get the inside story on Thorndecker, succumbs to the charms of the scientist's wife. Some strong language and some explicit descriptions of sex. Bestseller 1979.

A Moment's Surrender BRA 16523
by Donald Lindquist
5 volumes
An American soldier on leave visits the French village where his father was reportedly killed during World War II. He falls in love with a beautiful girl and a fearful taboo is violated. Some strong language. 1976.

The Public Burning BRA 16532
by Robert Coover
15 volumes
Bold, inventive blend of fact and fiction describes the three days before Ethel and Julius Rosenberg are electrocuted at sundown on June 18, 1953, at a "public burning" staged in Times Square. On the entertainment committee are C. B. DeMille and Betty Crocker. Strong language. 1977.

The Cement Garden BRA 16541
by Ian McEwan
3 volumes
In London, four children live in a solitary house of dark secrets through one long, hot summer when they find themselves freed by the death of their parents. A novel about adolescent sexuality and incest. Some explicit descriptions of sex and some strong language. 1978.

When the Legends Die BRA 16542
by Hal Borland
5 volumes
Ute Indian Thomas Black Bull lives as his ancestors did until he is eleven years old, and then becomes a successful rodeo rider. Eventually he returns to his people and his former way of life as a means of achieving the peace he desires. 1963.

The Devil's Alternative BRA 16544
by Frederick Forsyth
10 volumes
A British agent in Moscow must imperil his informant in the Kremlin, who happens to be the woman he loves. The leaders of England and the United States must apply a particularly nasty solution to a bitter dilemma arising out of a chain of international crises—a failed Russian grain crop, a Ukranian bid for freedom, a last-chance Soviet-American treaty, and a loaded supertanker held hostage in the North Sea. 1979.

Speak for the Dead BRA 16548
by Rex Burns
4 volumes
When the head of a young woman is found tastefully displayed among tropical plants at the Denver Botanic Garden, Gabriel Wager of the Denver Police Department is determined to find the killer. Strong language. 1978.

The Laurel and Hardy Murders
BRA 16611
by Marvin Kaye
4 volumes
A much-hated comic is murdered on stage

during a film-buff society's banquet. Hillary Quale, a cool, liberated female New York private eye, investigates and methodically apprehends the killer. Some strong language. 1978.

Mercier and Camier BRA 16613
by Samuel Beckett
2 volumes
Comic novel records the comings and goings of Mercier and Camier, another addition to the repertoire of Beckett's pairs. Some strong language. 1974.

They Came to Valeira BRA 16637
by Rosalind Brett
4 volumes
Plantation manager Julian Caswell becomes angry when he discovers Philippa Crane on Valeira. He had hoped for solitude and complete relief from women on the tropical island, and commands her to leave. But plucky Philippa is determined to remain, especially when she discovers that she has fallen in love with the wary Julian. Harlequin romance. 1979.

The Saint Overboard BRA 16638
by Leslie Charteris
5 volumes
The Saint at his swashbuckling best dives deep into trouble. He is forced to take part in an underwater treasure hunt fraught with unforeseen danger. Can the happy highwayman successfully raid Davy Jones's locker and salvage his reputation as well as the sunken treasure? 1936.

Last Seen in Samarra BRA 16644
by Janet Gregory Vermandel
3 volumes
Alex Grainger leaves London to work on a Montreal newspaper so she can search for her missing sister. Then Alex discovers she is being stalked by a killer. 1972.

Claudius, the God, and His Wife Messalina BRA 16751
by Robert Graves
4 volumes
Vivid picture of decadent Rome during the years in which the Roman Emperor Claudius Caesar conquered Britain and instituted many reforms at home. Sequel to I, Claudius (BRA 3422). 1962.

The Whirligig of Time BRA 16765
by Lloyd Biggle, Jr.
5 volumes
The planet Nifron D is inexplicably turned into a sun, and a quarter of a galaxy away a native of the planet Skarnaf is found horribly disfigured by an impossibly massive dose of radiation. While former detective Jan Darzek searches for a connection between the two events, the populous and prosperous world of Vezpro receives a blackmail letter threatening it with the same fate as Nifron D. 1979.

The Haymaker BRA 16766
by Elizabeth Cadell
4 volumes
Neither Stapling Manor nor any of the fine family possessions of this stately home really belongs to Lady Laura, but for more than twenty years she has enjoyed them undisturbed. No one is worried except old Cosmo Brierley, trustee of the estate, who has no control over the eccentric aristocrat. But when the owner of the estate arrives from America, there are surprises in store. 1972.

Books for Children

The following books were recently produced for the NLS program. Books with the BR code are produced in press braille. Books with the BRA code are thermoform copies of braille books handcopied for NLS by volunteers. To order books with the BR and BRA codes, complete the order form and return it to your braille-lending library.

Because handcopied books are in very limited supply, your requests may have to be placed on a waiting list. Please be prompt to read and return handcopied books within a few weeks for the sake of other readers who are waiting. The average loan period is four weeks. In unusual circumstances, however, readers may keep their volumes longer.

Note: For the information of the reader, a notice may appear immediately following the book description to indicate occurrences of strong language, explicit descriptions of sex or violence. The word "some" before any of these terms indicates an occasional or infrequent occurrence, as in "some strong language."

In Brief

Baseball Schedules

Fans can follow the baseball season by ordering free 1982 American League and National League schedules in braille from braille-lending libraries.

The season's openers this year are on Monday afternoon, April 5, with the Baltimore Orioles hosting the Kansas City Royals for the American League and the Cincinnati Reds playing the Chicago Cubs at Cincinnati for the National League. The seasons end October 3, followed by championships and the World Series, which begins on October 12.

During the year, NLS sends braille football, basketball, hockey, soccer, and baseball schedules to braille-lending libraries. Watch the "In Brief" section of Braille Book Review for news about the new schedules. For free schedules or more information about braille or recorded magazines and books about sports, call or write your braille-lending library.

Size and Shape of Collection

In the early stages of refining NLS collection building policies, NLS staff recently made a computer-assisted analysis of the national collection. Though the findings will need further refinement and verification, they do give a rough idea of the size and makeup of the collection, and confirm or contradict some assumptions.

The findings revealed a total of 33,602 titles, not including magazines or reading materials produced by state and local cooperating libraries. Nearly 300 recorded titles in Spanish make up the bulk of the foreign language segment of the national collection. Total holdings are divided almost equally between recorded and braille books—53 percent recorded, 47 percent braille.

The figures also showed a collection whose composition is in close agreement with the guidelines established by the NLS Ad Hoc Advisory Group on Collection Building Activities and NLS librarians. These guidelines recommended a mixture of 50 percent nonfiction to 50 percent fiction titles, and 80 percent adult to 20 percent children's titles.

Magazine Corner

Reading for the Young Set

Braille readers have a choice of five magazines for young people, all with a wide circulation in print. For teenage outdoorsmen, there's Boys' Life, a monthly publication of Boy Scouts of America. Boys' Life contains regular features on hobbies and Scout projects, as well as articles for the general reader on astronomy, ecology, camping, and other topics.

Children's Digest, published nine times a year, carries condensed readings from the classics, new fiction, poetry, folklore, and fairy tales. It includes book reviews and articles on nature, history, biography, and art.

Jack and Jill, published ten times a year, has short stories, short articles on nature and science, and a sampler of poems, puzzles, jokes, games, easy recipes, and contributions from readers. Historical figures or people from other lands tell their stories in the regular feature "My Father/My Mother Is . . . ." Jack and Jill is also recorded in a flexible-disc package with Ranger Rick's Nature Magazine.

Seventeen and 'Teen, published monthly, are magazines for fashion-minded young women. Both offer advice on clothes and beauty and include short stories. Seventeen also covers topics of current interest and has articles on cooking, crafts, decorating, and gardening. 'Teen has a gossip column on popular music and film stars, a monthly creative-writing section, and "Meet the Superstars," highlighting sports achievements of the average teenager.

Free subscriptions to these and other magazines in braille can be ordered by writing or calling cooperating libraries.

National Contest in Computer Aids

The Johns Hopkins First National Search for Applications of Personal Computing to Aid the Handicapped ended last year with three national prize winners and honorable mentions for eight others.

Hearing and speech professor Harry Levitt of City University of New York won first prize for programming a low-cost computer. Dr. Levitt's pocket-size "Portable Telecommunicator" can be connected to a private or public telephone for communication between deaf and non-deaf sighted people.

Computer-assisted devices given honorable mention included a micro-braille system for production of low-volume, low-cost braille text; an ultrasonic head control for wheelchair users; a Kurzweil reading machine,which converts print materials into synthetic speech; and an inexpensive braille word-processing system for use by transcribers working with musical scores and documents.

Newsstand

The following announcements may be of interest to readers. Materials mentioned here, however, are not part of the NLS program.

Computer Applications. Apple Computer company has a ten-page booklet on personal computer applications for disabled people. The booklet, Personal Computers for the Physically Handicapped, describes products and innovative uses of computers by people with a wide range of disabilities. It includes applications for people with visual and hearing impairments, persons to contact for more information, and a bibliography. For copies of the booklet, free in regular print, write to Apple Computer, 10260 Bandley Drive, Cupertino, CA 95014, or call (408) 996-1010.

Homosexual Literature. Lambda Resource Center for the Blind sells braille and cassette editions of Gay Subjects, Special Formats: Books and Periodicals for the Blind and Physically Handicapped. The catalog includes the 1980 bibliography produced by the Gay Task Force of the American Library Association Social Responsibilities Round Table. It lists sources of disc, cassette, and braille books and magazines, and is divided into subject categories. Cassette copies are $1.50 each; braille copies, $6.00 each. To order, send a check to the Lambda Resource Center for the Blind, 3225 North Sheffield, Chicago, IL 60657.

Rehabilitation Information. National Rehabilitation Information Center has lowered subscription rates for the regular-print edition of its bimonthly newsletter, the Pathfinder. The newsletter offers the latest information on the rehabilitation of physically and mentally impaired people, with regular features on national, state, and local sources. The new annual subscription rate for the regular-print edition is $7.00. Subscriptions to the braille edition are $12.00 a year. For subscription information or a free complimentary copy in regular print, write to Pathfinder—Editor, 4407 Eighth Street NE, Washington, DC 20017, or call (202) 635-5826.

Women's Magazine. Our Special, a free braille monthly for blind women, carries reprints from leading magazines and features on cooking, crafts, personal development, child care, and fashion. The magazine includes several reader-participation columns with comments and advice on hobbies, homemaking, grooming, and other topics. For a free subscription, write to Jeanne Neale—Editor, Our Special, National Braille Press, 88 Saint Stephen Street, Boston, MA 02115.

Books for Adults

The following books were recently produced for the NLS program. Books with the BR code are produced in press braille. Books with the BRA code are thermoform copies of braille books handcopied for NLS by volunteers. To order books with the BR and BRA codes, complete the order form and return it to your braille-lending library.

Because handcopied books are in very limited supply, your requests may have to be placed on a waiting list. Please be prompt to read and return handcopied books within a few weeks for the sake of other readers who are waiting. The average loan period is four weeks. In unusual circumstances, however, readers may keep their volumes longer.

Note: For the information of the reader, a notice may appear immediately following the book description to indicate occurrences of strong language, explicit descriptions of sex, or violence. The word "some" before any of these terms indicates an occasional or infrequent occurrence, as in "some strong language."

Press Braille Nonfiction

Apprentice to Genius: Years with Frank Lloyd Wright BR 4562

by Edgar Tafel

2 volumes

The author, an architect and a Taliesin Fellow from 1931 to 1941, shares his remembrances of Frank Lloyd Wright and his adventures as one of the Fellowship's first apprentices. Tafel depicts Wright as an eccentric, almost lovable benevolent despot, and discusses the building produced during the depression years. 1979.

American School of Needlework Presents: The Great Granny Crochet Book
BR 4584

by the American School of Needlework

2 volumes

Explains the granny square crochet technique, one of the few needlework skills developed in the United States. This quick and easy-to-make square originally served to use up leftover odds and ends of yarn. Today, the granny motif, now made in many geometric shapes, is used to create a wide variety of colorful projects. Clear and simple instructions. 1979.

The Wine of Life and Other Essays on Societies, Energy, and Living Things
BR 4591

by Harold J. Morowitz

3 volumes

Brief, humorous essays by a Yale professor of biology. Some deal with current events such as the energy crisis, the Tutankhamen exhibit, and Women's Lib, while others deal with historical or scientific subjects. 1979.

Those Tremendous Mountains: The Story of the Lewis and Clark Expedition BR 4606

by David Freeman Hawke

4 volumes

President Thomas Jefferson's ideas and plans were the basis for the almost four-year-long expedition from Saint Louis to the mouth of the Columbia River and back. Lewis and Clark tell much of the story in their own words, while the author assesses the significance of the trip then and later. 1980.

The Study Game: How to Play and Win BR 4609
by Laia Hanau
3 volumes
An efficient method for notetaking, writing, and organizing material in the classroom or elsewhere. Also includes exam preparation and memorizing. 1974.

A Thinking Man's Guide to Pro Soccer BR 4695
by Gerald Eskenazi
2 volumes
A sports journalist discusses the growth of the pro leagues, basic game strategy, individual skills, and the function of each player on the field, position by position. Included are anecdotes about the game's more colorful players. 1980.

Why Your House May Endanger Your Health BR 4702
by Alfred V. Zamm with Robert Gannon
2 volumes
A physician involved in clinical ecology, which deals with "illness caused by inanimate elements in the environment—particles, vapors, electrical entities"—demonstrates how the air, water, and surfaces of a home may cause a wide range of physical and mental disorders. Offers helpful suggestions for purifying the environment and discusses types of clothing, furniture, and cleaning equipment that would improve health. 1980.

Vikings! BR 4712
by Magnus Magnusson
4 volumes
The author draws upon the evidence of numerous archaeological discoveries to reconstruct Viking life and culture in Scandinavia, Iceland, England, Ireland, and other parts of the world. The basis for the ten-part public television series. 1980.

Men in Love: Men's Sexual Fantasies—The Triumph of Love over Rage BR 4724
by Nancy Friday
6 volumes
Based on thousands of responses from men aged fourteen through their sixties, written in consultation with prominent psychiatric authorities, this work probes the reasons behind the startling, often shocking fantasy images and scenarios that men construct. Strong language and explicit descriptions of sex. Bestseller 1980.

The World of Farley Mowat: A Selection from His Works BR 4726
edited by Peter Davison
4 volumes
A sampling of the more than twenty-five books that the maverick Canadian author has written. Included are accounts of ships rescued in the storm-tossed North Atlantic, his adventures with the Eskimos in Saskatchewan, and some comic tales of his puppy, Mutt. 1980.

The View from Eighty BR 4729
by Malcolm Cowley
1 volume
Witty, brief reflections on old age which first appeared in Life and the Reader's Di- gest. Octogenarians, Cowley asserts, often feel as well and active as ever when sitting in a comfortable chair thinking pleasant thoughts, but getting up and striding forth, however, is another matter. 1980.

The Authentic Wild West: The Lawmen BR 4732

by James D. Horan
4 volumes
The story of the men who tried to preserve law and order in the Old West, based on eyewitness accounts, newspaper reports, memoirs, and other primary sources. Stresses the reality of the careers of Bill Masterson, Wyatt Earp, Bill Tilghman, and others over the myths that have sprung up about them. 1980.

Going to Extremes BR 4756

by Joe McGinniss
3 volumes
Account of the raucous human scene, the cold, and the isolation of Alaska. McGinniss writes of the savage weather, the magnificent beauty of the northern Brooks Range, and the bizarre characters he found in offices, bars, and lonely cabins in the wilderness. Strong language. 1980.

Flight into Egypt BR 4757

by Amos Elon
3 volumes
A leading Israeli journalist records his firsthand impressions of Egypt. After the 1979 peace accords, Elon traveled to Cairo, Alexandria, Ismailia, and the Suez Canal Zone, where he observed the culture and the daily life of the people of the Nile. He also reports interviews with government officials, writers, artists, diplomats, students, and Egyptian Jews. 1980.

The Skin Book: Looking and Feeling Your Best through Proper Skin Care BR 4759

by Arnold W. Klein, M.D. and others
2 volumes
Discusses both clinical issues and everyday concerns about skin. The authors consider the skin at various ages, the special requirements of black skin, cosmetics, cosmetic surgery, and the effect of such ailments as venereal disease, acne, dandruff, and warts. 1980.

Low-Cost Cooking BR 4761

by Better Homes and Gardens
2 volumes
Guide to family fare offers sections on cutting food costs and planning low-cost menus as well as tips for tasty meals. Includes 118 money-saving main dishes plus more than 65 side dishes and desserts. 1980.

Living Alive! How to Tap Your Body's Natural Energy to Look Better, Feel Better, and Do More—Every Day of Your Life BR 4762

by Flora Davis
4 volumes
A science writer examines the diverse elements that affect a person's energy level—everything from heredity, emotional makeup, sex, climate, and companions to the more obvious factors such as diet, sleep, and exercise. Suggests methods for discovering hidden sources of energy and making the most of them. 1980.

I Didn't Do It Alone: The Autobiography of Art Linkletter BR 4774
by Art Linkletter as told to George Bishop
2 volumes
The TV and radio personality credits much of his success to his Christian beliefs, and the prayers of family and friends. The book begins in 1929 when Linkletter left home at sixteen to spend the depression years riding the rails with a friend. The story also reports the star's illegitimate birth and adoption, and covers his career of more than forty years. 1980.

Love of Gold BR 4777
by Emily Hahn
2 volumes
Informal account traces the golden thread that links together almost all cultures from prehistory to contemporary times. Recounts legends and myths about gold in addition to anecdotes about artisans, patrons, hunters and seekers, and traders of gold. 1980.

No Good-Byes: My Search into Life Beyond Death BR 4793
by Adela Rogers St. Johns
2 volumes
In her ninetieth year, the journalist/novelist reveals her involvement in the psychic realm, particularly her conviction that the soul survives the death of the body. Her quest for evidence began with despair over her son's death during World War II. With the help of her daughter's automatic writing and the medium Eileen Garrett, she was comforted by her son's spirit. She tells of other psychic experiences, including contacts with President Kennedy and Clark Gable. 1981.

How Washington Really Works BR 4853
by Charles Peters
2 volumes
After exposing the behind-the-scenes machinations of lobbyists, the press, and government bureaucracy, the editor of the Washington Monthly concludes that Washington does not really work well. He describes power plays and some questionable practices that inhibit access by the people to their government. 1980.

Crosbie's Dictionary of Riddles BR 4856
by John S. Crosbie
3 volumes
Presents over two thousand riddles listed alphabetically by subject. Contains logical riddles (Which month has 28 days? They all do); plays on words (The cabbage won the race because it was a head); witticisms (What do you get when you cross a centipede with a parrot? A walkie-talkie); and riddles with imagery (There is a big white scarf lying across the gate—a snowdrift). 1980.

Understanding Inflation BR 4857
by John Case
2 volumes
A nontechnical primer on inflation as a social and political issue in the U.S. economy. Traces the historical roots of inflation and demonstrates that among the major scapegoats—government, OPEC, corporations and unions—no single one is responsible. The author suggests a number of possible solutions, including wage and price controls. 1981.

Holy Company: Christian Heroes and Heroines BR 4859

by Elliot H. Wright

3 volumes

Biographical sketches of the lives of traditional saints as well as exemplary modern men and women of faith. Thirty-three are such women as the early martyrs, reformer Jane Adams, mystic Simone Weil, and writer Flannery O'Connor. Saint Paul and Origen, UN leader Dag Hammarskjold, existentialist Søren Kierkegaard, and writer G. K. Chesterton are among the men included. 1981.

Six Great Ideas BR 4860

by Mortimer J. Adler

2 volumes

A prominent philosopher explores six concepts that have intrigued and inspired people throughout the ages. The ideas are grouped as those we judge by—truth, goodness, beauty—and those we act on—liberty, equality, justice. 1981.

Sonya: The Life of Countess Tolstoy BR 4862

by Anne Edwards

5 volumes

A portrait of the intensely passionate woman who as a child fell in love with revered novelist Leo Tolstoy. The story of their tumultuous marriage is told for the first time from Sonya's perspective. The author says that, while Tolstoy expounded on the equality of men, his definition of humanity never included women, and his wife smoldered in his shadow. 1981.

Son of Sam: Based on the Authorized Transcription of the Tapes, Official Documents, and Diaries of David Berkowitz BR 4865

by Lawrence D. Klausner

4 volumes

The story of the man who single-handedly terrorized New York City for a year and of one of the biggest, most political manhunts in the history of the New York City Police Department. 1981.

The Berkeley Co-op Food Book: Eat Better and Spend Less BR 4871

edited by Helen Black

4 volumes

Collection of practical articles, tips, and recipes created by home economists to educate shoppers in making the best use of food dollars. Includes information on nutrition, labeling, food costs and preparation, additives, toxins, storage, handling, and meal planning. 1980.

The Pritikin Permanent Weight-Loss Manual BR 4872

by Nathan Pritikin

4 volumes

The bestselling author explains precisely why many popular diet programs are harmful and why they produce only temporary results. The Pritikin regimen involves moderate exercise and a diet high in unrefined whole carbohydrate foods for permanent weight loss, good health, and good eating. Recipes included. 1981.

Saturday Parent: A Book for Separated Families BR 4873
by Peter Rowlands
2 volumes
A book for and about the other parent—the one who lives apart from the children and sees them only occasionally. The author, a psychologist by training and Saturday parent himself, gives specific tips on planning long and short visits, introducing newcomers in the noncustodial parent's life, and handling guilt and confusion. 1980.

Never-Say-Diet Book BR 4874
by Richard Simmons
2 volumes
The proprietor of a Beverly Hills salad bar and exercise studio, who lost 130 pounds, insists that to become thin, overweight people must admit they are fat and decide to do something about it. Exercise, proper nutrition, and a positive attitude are the keystones to this lifetime plan. Bestseller 1981.

Let Your Camera Do the Seeing: The World's First Photography Manual for the Legally Blind BR 4890
by George A. Covington
1 volume
A manual prepared by a legally blind photographer who found that photographs, especially black and white prints, are much more visible to him than the objects they portray. The manual explains camera functions concisely and gives directions for shooting, processing, and printing film. 1981.

The Facts of Love: Living, Loving, and Growing Up BR 4891
by Alex Comfort, M.D., and Jane Comfort
1 volume
A comprehensive introduction to sex and sexuality written by a physician and a social worker/professor, to encourage parents and children to talk to one another. The authors present sex as a means for procreation, for love, and for fun. For junior and senior high and adult readers. 1979.

Till Armageddon: A Perspective on Suffering BR 4897
by Billy Graham
2 volumes
Evangelist Graham traces human suffering from its origins in Genesis to the events that will bring suffering to an end as prophesied in the Book of Revelation. He presents pain in all its aspects—physical, mental, and spiritual—and answers the question "How can a loving God permit suffering?" 1981.

Comforting Those Who Grieve BR 4898
by Cecil Murphey
1 volume
Within a month, four persons dear to the minister author, including his father and brother, died. What comforted him and helped him to adjust to his loss is the basis for his counsel to others. A short guide to coping with one's own grief and to helping console others. 1979.

Press Braille Fiction

Trial Run BR 4062
by Dick Francis
3 volumes
Randall Drew is prevented by poor eyesight from pursuing his career in steeplechasing. Restless and unsure of his future, he does not welcome an invitation to go to Moscow on a delicate investigation connected with the Olympic Games. 1978.

Some Die Eloquent BR 4601
by Catherine Aird
3 volumes
When Beatrice Wansdyke, chemistry mistress at a private girls' school in the English town of Berebury, dies from diabetes, everyone is surprised to find a quarter of a million pounds in her bank account. When laconic Detective-Inspector Sloan investigates and finds Beatrice's death was not due to natural causes, he must then find the motive and the culprit. 1979.

The Cannaway Concern BR 4707
by Graham Shelby
2 volumes
In eighteenth-century England, the young defiant daughter of Brydd and Elizabeth Cannaway elopes with courtly Brook Wintersill. She soon discovers that her life is endangered by his brutality and leaves for her parents' home where Brook follows with his ruffian companions. She escapes once again and falls in love with Jacobite Captain Matcham Lodge. Sequel to The Cannaways (BRA 15765). Some violence and some strong language. 1980.

The Stone Maiden BR 4713
by Velda Johnston
2 volumes
A romantic suspense story of a young woman haunted by questions of her real identity. Her compulsive search leads her into a dangerous mystery of long-hidden Nazi treasure. She loses one love and gains another, as she follows a map pinpointing the secret location of the treasure. 1980.

King Silky BR 4727
by Leo Rosten
4 volumes
Manhattan private eye Silky Pincus is hired by a Montana millionaire who wants to build a casino hotel in Atlantic City, but is being blocked at every turn because he will not pay off Mafia head Quattro. The millionaire wants Silky to play bodyguard to his Hollywood girlfriend, but a slipup occurs and she ends up in Quattro's clutches. Some strong language and some explicit descriptions of sex. 1980.

Crocodile on the Sandbank BR 4728
by Elizabeth Peters
3 volumes
In 1880 spinster Amelia Peabody is in Rome en route to Egypt when she befriends a young noblewoman, Evelyn Barton-Forbes, who has been seduced and abandoned by her drawing master. Evelyn agrees to accompany Amelia, and soon unaccountable things begin to happen, climaxing when a tomb is discovered but its inhabitant disappears in the night. 1975.

Chelsea BR 4730
by Nancy Fitzgerald
2 volumes
A frothy Victorian novel about the romance of a portrait painter and his model, an orphaned nursemaid. The comedy and fluttery complications are provided by a failing cast-iron furniture business named Fluster and Muddle and characters that include Baby Amaryllis, Veracity Flutterby, and a titled lady and her marriageable daughter. 1980.

Going Blind BR 4734

Chihuahua, 1916 BR 4736
by Otis Carney
3 volumes
Ranchers near the Mexican border are caught up in the chaos caused by Pancho Villa's World War I era invasion of New Mexico. Drunken fights, street shootouts, father/son tensions dominate this Western style melodrama. Some strong language. 1980.

The Emigrants BR 4746
by Johan Bojer
3 volumes
Compassionate account of a small band of Norwegian emigrants who flee Trondheim in the 1880s, hoping to find heaven on earth in America. Their resolve remains strong despite prairie fire, blizzards, hailstorms, Indian attacks, crop failures, and the death of their leader. This novel was written to celebrate the centenary of the emigration of the first large group of Norwegians to the New World. 1925.

Smash BR 4763
by Garson Kanin
4 volumes
Fictional account of a musical from inception through road tryouts to Broadway opening. The cast and crew argue, laugh, devastate, and love with gestures even larger than those used on stage. Written by a veteran of five decades of show business. Strong language and explicit descriptions of sex. 1980.

The White Robin BR 4770
by Miss Read
1 volume
Narrated by Miss Read, the local schoolmistress in the village of Fairacre, this story begins with the appearance of an albino robin that enchants both children and adult villagers. National reports by a local ornithologist add to the wave of excitement until a malevolent act harms the precious mascot and challenges Miss Read's good nature. 1980.

The Stanbroke Girls: A Novel of Regency England BR 4772
by Fiona Hill
2 volumes
Romance, wit, and nineteenth-century high style accompany the Stanbroke girls—impulsive Lady Isabella and her lovely young sister, Lady Elizabeth. Elizabeth is mad for a detestable rake, while Isabella seems a perfect match for a very eligible bachelor who is as unattainable as he is desirable. 1981.

The Piercing BR 4778
by John Coyne
2 volumes
An Appalachian girl becomes a national sensation when she displays the stigmata following a peculiar rape by a hired hand. Only a young priest tormented by lust can determine whether she is divinely or diabolically possessed. Strong language and explicit descriptions of sex. 1979.

Rogue River Feud BR 4797
by Zane Grey
3 volumes
Keven Bell returns from the war with a bum eye, an iron jaw, and a sunspot on his brain. He then finds his mother is dead, his fiancee refuses to see him, and his best friend, Garry, is a lazy, rum-guzzling riverman. He strikes up a partnership with Garry, works the river as a market fisherman, and discovers somebody is playing dirty. Keven then digs in his heels and lets his gun speak for a fair share. 1957.

The Delta Decision BR 4854
by Wilbur A. Smith
4 volumes
Peter Stride, a British Army general, is in charge of Thor Command, a secret Allied project that deals decisively with terrorists and hijackers. When a nasty quartet of hijackers forces down a 747 in Johannesburg and his team goes in to "negotiate," Stride loses his temper and kills a surrendering terrorist. Dismissed, he seeks revenge against those financing hijackers. Violence, some strong language, and some explicit descriptions of sex. 1979.

The Kissing Gate BR 4861
by Pamela Haines
6 volumes
A larger-than-life saga of two generations of Yorkshire families, the rich and powerful Inghams and the sturdy Rawsons, owners of the local rope works. Their lives and destinies converge at the superstition-laden entrance to the churchyard, through which love and death are said to lie. 1981.

The Flowers of the Forest BR 4863
by Ruth Doan MacDougall
2 volumes
In 1878, Anne and Duncan, both poor Scottish immigrants, marry and move to New Hampshire to start the sheep farm Duncan yearns for. When hard times come upon them in 1901, they take in a schoolteacher as a boarder, and Anne, forty and the mother of six, falls in love with him. 1981.

Reflex BR 4867
by Dick Francis
3 volumes
Aging jockey Philip Nore, a loner who was abandoned by his unwed, junkie mother, decides to quit the track and make photography a profession instead of a hobby. At the same time, he tries to locate a half-sister he has just learned about, hoping she can shed some light on his past. Then the racetrack's official photographer is murdered and Philip gets involved in finding out why. Some strong language. Bestseller 1981.

Raven and the Paperhangers BR 4868
by Donald MacKenzie
2 volumes
Sleuth John Raven of London and his freelance-photographer-girlfriend Kirstie are enjoying romantic Paris until they inadvertently get caught up in a securities forgery scheme. Though Raven and Kirstie track down the villains, it is Kirstie who finally saves the day. Some strong language. 1980.

Murder Most Strange BR 4869
by Dell Shannon
2 volumes
In this police procedural novel, the bizarre cases include those of a handsome, well-dressed, very polite rapist who strikes only on Saturday afternoons, a thief who uses a huge Doberman as a threat weapon, and middle-aged men who are murdered in a seemingly meaningless series. But Lt. Luis Mendoza of the Los Angeles Police Department solves them all. Some strong language. 1981.

M.D. BR 4875
by Neil Ravin
3 volumes
Captures, through a series of vignettes, the frenetic life of a brand new doctor serving his internship in medicine and love at New York's most prestigious teaching hospital. Some strong language. 1981.

Bull Hunter BR 4885
by Max Brand
2 volumes
Peter Reeve badly wounds Bull Hunter's uncle in a gunfight. Bull intends to track down the gunman and kill him, not just for revenge, but to silence those who laughed at him and said he was too huge to be any good. Bull finds Reeve sitting in jail, waiting to be tried for murder, but not even the law can keep Bull from his showdown with him. 1921.

The Dam BR 4887
by Robert Byrne
2 volumes
Disaster novel about a California dam that is about to disintegrate after minor earthquakes. A smart young engineer who is a raw recruit to the dam's staff clearly sees the danger ahead but cannot make anyone believe him, except his girl friend. Some strong language and some explicit descriptions of sex. 1981.

Last Stand at Papago Wells BR 4888
by Louis L'Amour
1 volume
Logan Cates was a man without illusions, wealth, place, or destination. In the eighteen years since his parents died of cholera when he was fourteen, he had driven a freight wagon, punched cows, hunted buffalo, twice gone over the trail from Texas to Kansas with cattle, and coped with each day's problem as it arose. But now he will need every deadly skill at his command as he hears the screams of the Apache war party. 1957.

Death in a Cold Climate BR 4892
by Robert Barnard
2 volumes
The body of a young Englishman is discovered buried in the snow of a small Norwegian town high above the Arctic Circle. Inspector Fagermo of the Norwegian police investigates a three-month-old trail with little help from the townspeople, who regard him with icy hostility. 1980.

Tar Baby BR 4895
by Toni Morrison
3 volumes
A fugitive black man, Son, invades the West Indian home of a retired millionaire, creating havoc in racial and human terms among both the black and white members of the household. Finally he captivates Jadine, a beautiful, pampered black woman, and challenges her pragmatism with his idealism. Bestseller 1981.

Free Fall in Crimson BR 4899
by John D. MacDonald
2 volumes
Private eye Travis McGee, on the mend from a lost love, is asked by Ron Esterland to find out who killed his wealthy, cancer-ridden father, Ellis, two years ago. Suspects include Ellis's long-estranged actress wife, Josephine, who inherited the family fortune. McGee goes on location for her film in progress, winds up in an explosive situation in a small Iowa town, and finds a new love. Strong language. Bestseller 1981.

The Curse of the Pharaohs BR 4921
by Elizabeth Peters
3 volumes
A period mystery tale told with humor. A Victorian archaeologist, and a sexy colleague, now her husband, assume the leadership of a promising dig in the Valley of the Kings after the mysterious death of the former leader. It becomes obvious at once that someone—or some thing—is intent on destroying the couple. Sequel to Crocodile on the Sandbank (BR 4728). 1981.

Books for Children

The following books were recently produced for the NLS program. Books with the BR code are produced in press braille. Books with the BRA code are thermoform copies of braille books handcopied for NLS by volunteers. To order books with the BR and BRA codes, complete the order form and return it to your braille-lending library.

Because handcopied books are in very limited supply, your requests may have to be placed on a waiting list. Please be prompt to read and return handcopied books within a few weeks for the sake of other readers who are waiting. The average loan period is four weeks. In unusual circumstances, however, readers may keep their volumes longer.

Note: For the information of the reader, a notice may appear immediately following the book description to indicate occurrences of strong language, explicit descriptions of sex, or violence. The word "some" before any of these terms indicates an occasional or infrequent occurrence, as in "some strong language."

Braille Book Review

May–June 1982
Volume 51, Number 3

Braille Book Review is published bimonthly and distributed free to blind and physically handicapped individuals who participate in the Library of Congress free reading program. It lists braille books and magazines available through a national network of cooperating libraries. Information about developments and activities in library service is also included.

Subscription information is located on the inside back cover. Correspondence regarding editorial matters should be sent to: Publication and Media Section, National Library Service for the Blind and Physically Handicapped, Library of Congress, Washington, D.C. 20542.

In Brief

Cassette Braille Field Tested

NLS recently completed a two-year study and field test of cassette-braille machines. Staff involved in studying and testing the machines were interested in technical advances that could reduce production costs, which are prohibitive at this time. They needed to know if braille readers were receptive to the idea and, if so, what modifications to make to improve design and operation.

Cassette-braille machines use standard cassettes containing electronically coded braille characters. The machines translate the coded information and produce a braille display line from twenty to forty cells long. The dots for each braille character are pins raised above the surface of the display line by piezoelectric or solenoid drivers. The machines are portable, and the cassettes can store braille in much less space than paper.

For the field test, NLS hired a private firm to survey braille readers in five cities. NLS provided the participants with Elinfa Digicassette and TSI VersaBraille machines. Both machines are available commercially and operate on the same principle but differ in specific features such as indexing systems. Participants kept logs to record their experiences, answered questionnaires, and took part in interviews.

Findings from the field test showed that 72 percent of the participants believed they would have no significant problems in converting to cassette braille. Participants indicated a need for engineering changes to reduce fatigue and improve realiability.

Features Added to Cassette Machines

Two new features have been built into the most recent NLS talking-book cassette players. Engineered for greater reader convenience, the C-80 model cassette machines offer pitch restoration and a low-battery signal in addition to the usual standard features.

The low-battery signal sounds when it is time to connect the machine to a wall outlet and recharge the batteries. The signal is a high-pitched hum triggered to sound when the batteries no longer hold enough charge to power all the electrical components. On fully charged new batteries, the C-80 machines will play for approximately six hours. To ensure long battery life, users are asked to do some of their reading while this new player is unplugged.

The pitch-restoration feature may prove useful to readers who like to read at faster or slower than normal speeds. Used in conjunction with the standard variable-speed control, the pitch-restoration device maintains the original pitch of the narrator's voice, although some sound quality is sacrificed. With the pitch-restoration switch in the ''off'' position, recordings played on the C-80 machines will sound the same as they do on all cassette players produced since 1976. Pitch restoration adds a feature designed to increase machine usefulness.

Pitch restoration can be a valuable tool for students, professionals, and others with a need to cover large chunks of material in a short time. It can also be useful for people with some forms of hearing impairment and for anyone who feels more comfortable reading at a slower than normal rate.

Research and development of the pitch-restoration device began in 1971 after a variable-speed control was added to cassette machines. The variable-speed control enabled users to speed up and slow down their recordings but caused the narrator's voice to drone at low speeds and to sound like Donald Duck at high speeds.

The pitch-restoration device in the C-80 model restores the pitch of the narrator's voice to normal frequencies but somewhat distorts the sound. To keep the pitch on an even level, minute segments of the original narration must be removed at regular intervals for compressed (faster) speech and repeated at regular intervals for expanded (slower) speech. This process produces sound that varies considerably from normal speech in frequency and syllable duration. The amount of speech compression and expansion possible is about the same as on earlier model cassette machines—from about four fifths to two and a half times normal speeds.

An instruction tape supplied with each C-80 machine describes in detail the operation of the pitch-restoration feature. Reading ease appears to improve with practice and familiarity. The device will be most useful to those who invest several hours of practice.

Readers may achieve better sound by moving the tone control toward the right for the fastest speeds and toward the left for more moderate speeds. Practice at very high speeds can improve reading ease at more moderate speeds.

Adjustments will vary from cassette to cassette, depending on such factors as the original pitch of the narrator's voice, the type of material read, the original reading rate of the narrator, and the recording itself.

The addition of the pitch-restoration device to the C-80 machine is to some extent experimental. Reader reaction will determine whether the device will be considered for future models. Readers are urged to direct comments and questions on the new C-80 cassette machines to their cooperating libraries, or to Judy Dixon, head, Consumer Relations, National Library Service for the Blind and Physically Handicapped, Library of Congress, Washington, DC 20542.

Magazine Corner

Reviewing Music

Free subscriptions to several braille magazines provide students, musicians, and serious music lovers with a sampling of current articles from print magazines in wide circulation.

Braille Musical Magazine, published monthly by the Royal National Institute for the Blind, consists of articles from British music publications written for professionals and amateur musicians. Overtones, published bimonthly by the New York Association for the Blind Lighthouse, offers reprints with an emphasis on opera and the classics. The Musical Mainstream, a braille bimonthly produced by NLS and also available in large print and on cassette, contains news of the NLS music collection, original articles on braille music, reprinted articles on classical music, and a listing of recent additions to the NLS music collection.

With a subscription to the braille edition of Music Article Guide, also available on cassette, readers may obtain articles on a topic of their interest. This regular-print quarterly indexes articles from more than 135 American music periodicals. Copies of the indexed articles selected are recorded or brailled at the reader's request by the NLS Music Section.

For subscriptions and more information about braille music magazines, write or call a cooperating library.

Ziegler Magazine, Anniversary Issue

In March this year, the Matilda Ziegler Magazine for the Blind celebrated its beginnings with a special anniversary issue.

The March 1982 issue, number 893, chronicled the magazine's seventy-five-year history, featured a biographical portrait of the founding editor, Walter G. Holmes, and excerpted Holmes's forty years of correspondence with Helen Keller.

The anniversary issue also carried the five prize-winning essays from the 110 entries in last year's essay-writing contest. Essays were keyed to a turning point in the writers' lives.

The Matilda Ziegler Magazine is published ten times a year in grade 2 braille and on 8 rpm discs. The magazine regularly carries topical articles from a wide selection of periodicals, book excerpts, short fiction, poetry, and humor, along with information of interest to blind people. Free subscriptions to the braille or disc edition may be ordered from Matilda Ziegler Magazine for the Blind, 20 West Seventeenth Street, New York, NY 10011.

Jobs with National Defense

Defense Mapping Agency is actively recruiting disabled people. As part of this effort, the agency recently published Career Opportunities for Disabled Persons, a free six-page large-print brochure.

The brochure outlines the agency's functions, benefits for federal employees, accommodations and services for disabled employees, and addresses of branch offices throughout the United States. As the largest mapping, charting, and geodetic agency in the world, Defense Mapping Agency serves the U.S. armed forces and other national security operations.

Readers may order free copies of the large-print brochure, application forms, and more information by writing to Paul A. Hayduk–Handicapped Program Coordinator, Defense Mapping Agency, Civilian Personnel Division, Building 56, U.S. Naval Observatory, Washington, DC 20305, or by calling Mr. Hayduk at (202) 254-4905 or 254-4906.

Newsstand

The following announcements may be of special interest to readers. Materials mentioned here, however, are not part of the NLS program.

Access Guides. Disabled national and international travelers may find The International Directory of Access Guides, 1981/1982 helpful in preparing for trips in the United States and overseas. The directory, free in regular print, lists sources of 458 guidebooks in regular print. The directory groups guidebooks by country and city, and includes a separate listing for airports, air travel, hotel and motel chains, bus and rail travel, and miscellaneous guides. Individual copies of the directory may be ordered free from Rehabilitation International USA, 20 West Fortieth Street, New York, NY 10018.

Visitors to Boston and New York may also order two regular-print guidebooks published too recently to be listed in the new directory. Access to Boston, with information on fourteen neighborhoods in Boston, Brookline, and Cambridge, is available free in regular print from Disabled Students Services, Boston University, 775 Commonwealth Avenue, Room 411, Boston, MA 02215. Access New York City Guide, a listing of sites of general interest with a foldout map of Manhattan, may be ordered in regular print for $2 a copy, including postage and handling in the United States, $4 a copy via overseas surface mail, and $6 a copy via overseas airmail, orders payable to the Junior League of New York City, 130 East Eightieth Street, New York, NY 10021.

Art Show. The Fifth Art Exhibition for Blind Artists is scheduled to open October this year in Philadelphia. Only legally blind artists are eligible. For details on the show and application forms, write to National Exhibits by Blind Artists, 32 Chestnut Road, Paoli, PA 19301, or call (215) 296-5887.

AT&T Report. Visually impaired shareholders in American Telephone and Telegraph Company can order free copies of the company's annual report in braille, on discs, or on cassettes. Write to AT&T Secretary, 195 Broadway, Room 2615, New York, NY 10007.

Ham Radio. Courage Handi-Ham System offers free memberships to handicapped people interested in learning to become amateur radio operators. The system is an international service organization numbering more than 2,000 radio amateurs. Volunteers help with training, lend textbooks and basic equipment, and provide many other services to student members. For a free copy of their regular-print booklet and application forms, write to Courage Handi-Ham System, Courage Center, 3915 Golden Valley Road, Minneapolis, MN 55422.

Pen Pals. Exceptional Parent, a magazine for families of children with disabilities, is forming a pen pal program designed to match people with similar interests. Children can join this program by sending a letter with information on their age, sex, and disabilities. They should also be sure to indicate if they wish to write to a pen pal. Send requests to Pen Pals, c/o Exceptional Parent, 296 Boylston Street, Boston MA 02116.

Radio Hadley. Ham operators can chat with the Hadley School for the Blind by shortwave every Wednesday afternoon from noon to one o'clock Chicago Central Time on 21,375 kilohertz frequencies. Hadley School's call sign is WA9 WHS. Aspiring amateur radio operators may enroll in Amateur Radio 1, a free braille or cassette correspondence course designed to prepare students for the novice-class license. The school plans to have the next course in the sequence, Amateur Radio 2, ready by fall 1982. For application forms and a bulletin of free braille and cassette correspondence courses, write to Hadley School for the Blind, 700 Elm Street, Winnetka, IL 60093. Applicants and students may call the school toll-free at 800-323-4238, from 8:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. Central Time.

Books for Adults

The following books were recently produced for the NLS program. Books with the BR code are produced in press braille. Books with the BRA code are thermoform copies of braille books handcopied for NLS by volunteers. To order books with the BR and BRA codes, complete the order form and return it to your braille-lending library.

Because handcopied books are in very limited supply, your requests may have to be placed on a waiting list. Please be prompt to read and return handcopied books within a few weeks for the sake of other readers who are waiting. The average loan period is four weeks. In unusual circumstances, however, readers may keep their volumes longer.

Note: For the information of the reader, a notice may appear immediately following the book description to indicate occurrences of strong language, explicit descriptions of sex, or violence. The word "some" before any of these terms indicates an occasional or infrequent occurrence, as in "some strong language."

The trail leads to a gang, and to a young woman with whom he becomes involved. Some strong language. 1979.

Books for Children

The following books were recently produced for the NLS program. Books with the BR code are produced in press braille. Books with the BRA code are thermoform copies of braille books handcopied for NLS by volunteers. To order books with the BR and BRA codes, complete the order form and return it to your braille-lending library.

Because handcopied books are in very limited supply, your requests may have to be placed on a waiting list. Please be prompt to read and return handcopied books within a few weeks for the sake of other readers who are waiting. The average loan period is four weeks. In unusual circumstances, however, readers may keep their volumes longer.

Note: For the information of the reader, a notice may appear immediately following the book description to indicate occurrences of strong language, explicit descriptions of sex, or violence. The word "some" before any of these terms indicates an occasional or infrequent occurrence, as in "some strong language."

In Brief

Football in the Fall

Braille-reading football fans can follow the 1982 season by ordering free schedules in braille. The schedules are due for delivery to braille-lending libraries in early September.

Weather and contract negotiations permitting, the National Football League plans to open the season with thirteen games on Sunday afternoon, September 12. The regular season ends with Buffalo at Miami on Monday night, December 27, followed by playoffs and championship games in January. The Super Bowl game will be held January 30 in Pasadena, California.

During the year, NLS sends braille football, basketball, hockey, soccer, and baseball schedules to braille-lending libraries. Watch the "In Brief" section of Braille Book Review for news about the new schedules. For free schedules and more information about braille and recorded magazines and books about sports, call or write your braille-lending library.

Place Orders Now

Subscribers to Braille Book Review in braille should soon receive an order form for publications now in progress. The order form lists the bibliography Mysteries and two catalogs—Cassette Books 1982 and Braille Books 1982. All these publications are scheduled for production in large print this year; some may be produced also in braille or on flexible discs if funds are available and demand is adequate.

By checking the advance order form and returning it in the postage-free, preaddressed envelope that comes with it, readers will automatically receive the publications ordered as soon as these are produced. Orders will be filled only for readers who check the advance order form and mail it.

Update for Cassette Users

Recent research has turned up some new information of use to cassette readers. Cassette machines actually perform with greater reliability, and battery life is lengthened, if cassette players are allowed to operate on battery power alone most of the time.

Readers are therefore advised to do most of their reading while their machines are disconnected from wall outlets, and to connect the machines periodically to recharge the batteries. Cassette machines should not be left plugged into an electrical outlet for more than a few days at a time.

Magazine Corner

'Teen to Be Replaced

Publishers of 'Teen magazine have withdrawn permission for the production of a braille edition. Subscribers to the free braille edition received their last issue in June, with a letter notifying them that subscriptions would be cancelled.

NLS is searching for a suitable replacement and will let readers know when a new selection is made. Subscribers to 'Teen may wish to order free subscriptions to Seventeen, a similar magazine produced monthly in braille and containing short stories and articles on beauty, cooking, decorating, gardening, and fashions for young women.

Magazine of the Quarter

Civil War Times Illustrated and Redbook have been selected as the second and third issues in the Braille Magazine of the Quarter this year. Subscribers to this program receive a different popular print magazine in braille each quarter.

Civil War Times Illustrated carries narratives, biographies, first-hand accounts, documents, book reviews, and articles by historians and Civil War buffs. Articles are written for the general reader.

Redbook, a bestselling women's magazine, has fiction and advice on food, home decorating, fashion, beauty, and child care from contributing editors such as Judith Viorst and Dr. Benjamin Spock. Every issue offers a short novel and several short stories.

At the end of the year, Magazine of the Quarter subscribers are asked to rate the magazines selected; their responses are taken into consideration when NLS is planning the next year's selections or addition of a new magazine to the regular free magazine program.

For more information or a free subscription to the Magazine of the Quarter, readers should write or call a cooperating library.

Braille Forum in Spanish

The American Council of the Blind plans to begin recording its free magazine, the Braille Forum, in a Spanish-language edition this year. The organization is compiling a mailing list of Spanish-reading subscribers.

The Spanish edition, scheduled to start by the end of the year, will be produced four times a year on 8 rpm flexible discs and will contain articles selected from the monthly English-language edition.

The Braille Forum in English, produced in braille, cassette, flexible-disc, and large-print editions, includes brief news of interest to blind and physically handicapped people, and information on changes in Social Security legislation and American Council of the Blind activities.

To order a free subscription to the Spanish or English editions, write to Mary T. Ballard—Editor, Braille Forum, 190 Lattimore Road, Rochester, NY 14620, or call (716) 244-8364.

Newsstand

The following announcements may be of interest to readers. Materials mentioned here, however, are not part of the NLS program.

Baha'i Literature. Information on the goals and teachings of the Baha'i faith, as well as selections from Baha'i sacred writings, may be obtained on cassette or in braille. Send requests in print, on cassette, or in braille to Dean Martineau, 318 Judson, Tacoma, WA 98444.

Baseball for Children. Lehigh Valley Braille Guid has transcribed the children's storybook Lumpy, a Baseball Fable, by Philadelphia Phillies relief pitcher Tug McGraw. For a free thermoform copy, write to Lehigh Valley Braille Guild, 614 North Thirteenth Street, Allentown, PA 18102.

Home Appliances. Sears, Roebuck, and Company is expanding product lines adapted for use by blind or visually impaired customers. Sears provides free braille overlay kits for controls on eight Kenmore air conditioners, three washing machines, two dishwashers, and a microwave oven. Several kits include operating instructions and owners' manuals in braille; a few also come with free instruction cassettes. The Sears fall catalog lists a new home thermostat with tactile controls and large-type instructions. Free braille or cassette instructions may also be ordered for the thermostat. For the Christmas catalog, Sears plans to list "Speak and Spell" and "Speak and Math"—two programmed learning machines for children. The machines have controls and reference keys imprinted in braille and are designed to read out on visual displays and in synthetic speech. For more details about these products, order a Sears catalog, free in regular print, or inquire at a catalog order desk.

Theosophical Magazine. Braille Star Theosophist, a free bimonthly magazine, carries reprints of articles from theosophical journals. Issues vary from forty-eight to fifty-six pages in grade 2 braille and are devoted to a topic such as estoeric philosophy, occultism, or spiritual awareness. For a free subscription, write to Brailie Star Theosophist, Theosophical Book Association for the Blind, Krotona 54, Ojai, CA 93023.

Books for Adults

The following books were recently produced for the NLS program. Books with the BR code are produced in press braille. Books with the BRA code are thermoform copies of braille books handcopied for NLS by volunteers. To order books with the BR and BRA codes, complete the order form and return it to your braille-lending library.

Because handcopied books are in very limited supply, your requests may have to be placed on a waiting list. Please be prompt to read and return handcopied books within a few weeks for the sake of other readers who are waiting. The average loan period is four weeks. In unusual circumstances, however, readers may keep their volumes longer.

Note: For the information of the reader, a notice may appear immediately following the book description to indicate occurrences of strong language, explicit descriptions of sex, or violence. The word "some" before any of these terms indicates an occasional or infrequent occurrence, as in "some strong language."

Press Braille Nonfiction

Little America: Town at the End of the World BR 4596

by Paul A. Carter
4 volumes
A history of the American bases in Antarctica known as Little America, covering the period from the first expedition of Richard E. Byrd in 1929 to the signing of the Antarctic Treaty of 1959. 1979.

Second Opinion BR 4790

by Isadore Rosenfeld
5 volumes
An experienced physician and teacher discusses specific medical treatments for common medical problems. He explains why different physicians can legitimately treat the same disease in different ways and advises when to seek a second opinion or to refuse treatment. Cataracts, heart disease, arthritis, hypertension, and cancer are among the illnesses discussed. 1981.

Dr. Rader's No-Diet Program for Permanent Weight Loss BR 4792

by William Rader, M.D.

Cassette Books 1979–1980 BR 4798

by the National Library Service for the Blind and Physically Handicapped
8 volumes
An annotated listing of adult and young adult talking-book cassettes produced by the National Library Service for the Blind and Physically Handicapped in 1979 and 1980. Divided into fiction and nonfiction, the books are arranged by subject area. Separate sections list bestselling titles and young adult books. 1980.

Susan Hayward: Portrait of a Survivor BR 4799
by Beverly Linet
4 volumes
Born Edythe Marrenner, in a dreary Brooklyn home, the red-haired film star clawed her way to Hollywood fame. The glittering success of her film career contrasted sharply with bouts of depression over her personal life. Unlucky in her marriages and love affairs (one with Howard Hughes), she struggled with cancer that may have been linked to a 1954 film she made on location in a Utah atomic testing area. 1980.

Betty Crocker's International Cookbook BR 4800
by Betty Crocker
5 volumes
A culinary tour of fifty-four nations with more than four hundred fifty easy-to-follow recipes that have been developed and tested in the Betty Crocker Kitchens. Basically a book of country cooking, it also includes classic and sophisticated recipes. A regional index identifies recipes by country. 1980.

Lélia: The Life of George Sand BR 4813
by André Maurois
4 volumes
This biography of a dynamic heroine from a romantic period draws on unpublished letters and journal entries that also provide close-ups of such literary giants as Flaubert and Dostoevski, all of whom admired this queen of French letters of the mid-nineteenth century. 1953.

On Language BR 4816
by William Safire
4 volumes
In this collection of columns published in the New York Times, the former White House speechwriter calls attention to words and expressions that are abused, misused, or too much in vogue, particularly in politics, business, and communications. The book includes many letters from readers. 1980.

Going Wild: Adventures of a Zoo Vet BR 4840
by David Taylor
2 volumes
Out-of-the-way tales by the curator of the Flamingo Park Zoo in England. Capturing zebras in Africa, he takes time to remove a blind baby zebra's cataracts; for an Israeli zoo, he conjures up an acceptable Passover animal diet; and on home ground, he joins the hunt for a vicious Puma that turns out to be a malnourished Great Dane. 1980.

Reagan the Man, the President
BR 4842
by Hedrick Smith and others
2 volumes
Five New York Times correspondents present an examination and analysis of the fortieth president of the United States. They examine his years in Hollywood, his move into politics, his two terms as California governor, and his landslide presidential election. 1980.

Pavarotti: My Own Story BR 4881
by Luciano Pavarotti with William Wright
2 volumes
The joyful tenor enthuses about his life and career. He reminisces about how he became a performer and rose to his present fame. He talks openly about his feelings toward musical interpretation, the operatic stage, his craving for audience approval, his zest for food, and love for his family. Bestseller 1981.

A Window over the Sink: A Mainly Affectionate Memoir BR 4913
by Peg Bracken
2 volumes
Bracken's "official stance" for remembering is "at the kitchen sink, looking out the window" of her Hawaiian home, but food, cooking equipment, and cleaning the kitchen also provoke vivid memories of the Midwest. 1981.

Coping with Difficult People BR 4919
by Robert M. Bramson
2 volumes
A practicing psychologist offers field-tested techniques for identifying, understanding, and coping with seven problematic personality types in the workaday world. The categories include hostile-aggressives, complainers, super-agreeables, negativists, indecisives, know-it-alls, and silent types. 1981.

Prisoner without a Name, Cell without a Number BR 4944
by Jacobo Timerman
2 volumes
Searing memoir by an outspoken Zionist and former newspaper publisher in Buenos Aires, arrested by the army without charge. Timerman relates his thirty-month political incarceration—torture and isolation in prison—which preceded his expulsion from Argentina in 1979. International pressure forced his captors to release him. 1981.

The Lord God Made Them All
BR 4945
by James Herriot
3 volumes
In this work the author returns with his wife Helen, fellow vets Tristan and Siegfried, and the many colorful Yorkshire characters, both human and animal. James and Helen now have two children: the war is over, life is back to normal except for the expedition that takes James behind the Iron Curtain to look at veterinarians on a real live Animal Farm. Sequel to All Things Wise and Wonderful. Bestseller 1981.

Danse Macabre BR 4947
by Stephen King
4 volumes
A successful horror story writer presents an informal history of the horror genre between 1950 and 1980. Discusses horror literature in books, comics, television shows, and movies. Includes biographical and autobiographical anecdotes of famous horror story writers. Some strong language. 1981.

What Helped Me When My Loved One Died BR 4949
edited by Earl A. Grollman
1 volume
Parents, wives, husbands, children, and friends, who have mourned deeply over the death of someone they love, talk about their grief and about how they have come to terms with it. Among the contributors is Dr. Elisabeth Kübler-Ross. The editor is a rabbi known internationally for his work on bereavement. 1981.

Summary of Existing Legislation relating to the Handicapped BR 4957
by the U.S. Deptartment of Education
2 volumes
A comprehensive summary of nearly sixty key federal laws enacted through 1979 concerned with the legal rights and benefits of mentally and physically disabled individuals. Organized by general subject areas, the book describes the basic purpose of each law, the major programs authorized under it, and its impact on mentally or physically handicapped persons. 1980.

Thundering Sneakers BR 4958
by Prudence Mackintosh
2 volumes
Amusing memoirs by a mother of three boys and one tomcat. Anecdotes about Christmas, the first birthday party, shopping at the supermarket, and other domestic trials that turn mom into a shrew or a martyr. 1981.

Cuentos: Tales from the Hispanic Southwest BR 4966
compiled by José Griego y Maestas translated by Rudolfo A. Anaya
2 volumes
Collection of twenty-three short folk tales that evoke the wisdom, customs, and values of the early Spanish settlers of the Southwest and their descendants. In English and Spanish. 1980.

Press Braille Fiction

Close Relations BR 4753
by Susan Isaacs
3 volumes
Marcia Green is a witty Jewish political speechwriter who enjoys a passionate but unpromising live-in relationship with a dashing Irish co-worker. Marcia's life is uncomplicated until she falls in love with the answer to her family's fervent prayers—a rich, handsome, well-educated Jewish lawyer. Some strong language and some explicit descriptions of sex. 1980.

Callahan's Crosstime Saloon BR 4781
by Spider Robinson
2 volumes
Callahan's Saloon serves not only as a meeting place for the regular assortment of barflies but also hosts several alien creatures who drop in for a drink. Included among them are a large-eyed visitor who reveals the impending destruction of earth, a telekinetic who comes to play darts, and another alien who informs the patrons of Callahan's that earth is merely a game preserve for cannibalistic humanoids. Winner of the 1974 John W. Campbell award for science fiction. 1977.

Caprice BR 4782
by Sara Hylton
3 volumes
Gothic tale set at Milverton Hall mid the moors and mists of rural England at the turn of the century. Carlotta McAllister, daughter of a noted Egyptian archaeologist, is employed as a companion for Thorn Lytton's disturbed young wife and becomes obsessed with the haunting memory of his former fiancée, who disappeared years before. 1980.

Comstock Lode BR 4818
by Louis L'Amour
5 volumes
Cornish coal miner Tom Trevallion uproots his small family and moves to America to have a shot at the California gold rush. But thieves kill Tom and shortly thereafter kill his wife. Son Val and little orphan Grita Redaway survive. Revenge-haunted Val becomes a top-placer-miner in this tale of the world's greatest silver strike. Some strong language. Bestseller 1981.

Firewind BR 4819
by Hank Searls
4 volumes
In Santa Barbara, California, it is the season of the Santa Ana winds when a woman's murder in a flaming car triggers off a major forest fire. The county sheriff's office must use ingenious methods to fight the devastating fires and trap a psychotic firebug. Strong language. 1981.

Free Fall BR 4820
by J. D. Reed
2 volumes
After hijacking a plane, a bitter ex-Green Beret escapes with $750,000 ransom by parachuting into the Washington-Oregon wilderness. A suspenseful cat-and-mouse chase ensues as a government agent, who had been the hijacker's sergeant in Vietnam, tracks him across the West. 1981.

Love for Sale BR 4821
by Barbara Cartland
2 volumes
When Udela Hayward's father dies, Lord Julius Westry offers her employment in London. Delighted at first, she soon realizes that the destination of the carriage sent to meet her is a brothel. She runs away into the arms of the duke of Westry, the brother of the rakish lord. 1980.

Mistral BR 4902

by Max Brand

2 volumes

The story of a splendid gray-white stallion named Mistral who was swift and devastating as the wind for which he was named. Lin Bister was a young man with a fancy for horses; he knew the worth of Mistral and kept and trained him. Finally all his faith in the horse, which had been a killer, was justified. 1929.

Circle of Love BR 4904

by Syrell Rogovin Leahy

2 volumes

The love story of Anna, a German Jew who was sent in her teens to live in France with a protective aunt during World War II, and Anton, a Polish survivor of a Nazi concentration camp. Searching for her parents after the war, she meets Anton when they both stumble upon the same abandoned farmhouse. The memorable three days they spend there comforting and loving each other haunt Anna even after she finds a comfortable life in the United States and a man who loves her. 1980.

A Man of Destiny BR 4923

by Graham Masterson

6 volumes

A lusty period novel follows the loves and fortunes of a young New York rake whose father has just gone bankrupt. Enthralled with the possibilities of the steam engine, the son is inspired to blast a railroad line through the impenetrable Sierra Nevada mountains. He breaks hearts from coast to coast while his laborers break rock to fulfill his driving ambition. Some strong language and some descriptions of sex. 1981.

Prize Stories of the Seventies from the O. Henry Awards BR 4926

selected by William Abrahams

4 volumes

Collection of twenty-three short stories representative of the American short stories published in the O. Henry Award series during the 1970s. Includes stories by James Salter, Donald Barthelme, Joyce Carol Oates, John Cheever, John Sayler, John Updike, Ella Leffland, Bernard Malamud, Tim O'Brien, Woody Allen, Saul Bellow and others. Some strong language and descriptions of sex. 1981.

Early Autumn BR 4928

by Robert B. Parker

4 volumes

Private detective Spenser is hired to find the teen-age son of a divorced couple. The father's underworld connections make it a dangerous job. When Spenser realizes the boy is being used as a pawn by his parents, he takes the boy away, then challenges his foes to ensure the lad's freedom. Some strong language and some explicit descriptions of sex. 1981.

The American Flaggs BR 4929

by Kathleen Norris

4 volumes

When Penelope, from a scatter-brained Irish-American family, weds Jeff Flagg, his family does not believe that their marriage can be a happy one. But Penelope is made of finer stuff than the Flaggs imagined, and little by little she wins their respect and admiration. 1937.

The Men's Club BR 4932
by Leonard Michaels
1 volume
Seven men, friends and strangers, gather together in a house in Berkeley for the first session of a vaguely planned men's club. All of them have a powerful need to talk about themselves. They find as the night wears on that they are implicated in violence, lusts, miseries, and love. Some strong language and explicit descriptions of sex. Bestseller 1981.

Six-Gun Country BR 4934
by Max Brand
2 volumes
Lee Porfilo broke out of prison and made for the mountains he knew so well. It was bad enough being on the run for a crime he did not commit, but worse yet, somebody was robbing stagecoaches and shooting people in his name! Porfilo knew he would have to track down his deadly double if he wanted to clear himself. 1925.

The Scallion Stone BR 4936
by Basil A. Smith
2 volumes
Collection of five horror stories written by a British cleric who inhabited a haunted Yorkshire rectory. Set in northern England, the tales are filled with its legends, lore, and history, and deal with dark, demonic forces. 1980.

Any Two Can Play BR 4943
by Elizabeth Cadell
3 volumes
Attractive, twenty-seven-year-old Natalie Travers takes it upon herself to rescue her brother from domestic chaos and taking care of twins when his wife leaves him. Independent and happily unmarried, she feels disinclined to change her status until romance unexpectedly appears in the shape of Henry Downing, scion of the town's founding family. 1981.

Jeeves: A Gentleman's Personal Gentleman BR 4946
by C. Northcote Parkinson
2 volumes
A make-believe biography of Reginald Jeeves, a famous character created by humorist P. G. Wodehouse. The whimsical tall tale reveals heretofore unpublished glimpses of the astute valet at the roulette tables in Monte Carlo, amid the glitter of Hollywood, and in consultation with detectives Hercule Poirot, Father Brown, and Lord Peter Wimsey. 1979.

The Night She Died BR 4948
by Dorothy Simpson
2 volumes
Detective Inspector Luke Thanet delves into the murder of pretty Julie Holmes. His investigation uncovers the story of a disturbed young woman who may have witnessed an unsolved murder as an infant. Inspector Thanet must discover whether her murderer is that long-ago murderer who wanted to keep her quiet or someone with whom she was emotionally involved. 1981.

No Thanks to the Duke BR 4950
by Alastair Dunnett
2 volumes
Barry Raeburn, an ex-rugby star who has just learned he is terminally ill, attempts suicide by leaping from an Edinburgh bridge but is saved by a powerful personage known as the Duke, who wants him to foil an attempt to kidnap a royal prince. 1978.

All Over Again BR 4951
by Nathaniel Benchley

Books for Children

The following books were recently produced for the NLS program. Books with the BR code are produced in press braille. Books with the BRA code are thermoform copies of braille books handcopied for NLS by volunteers. To order books with the BR and BRA codes, complete the order form and return it to your braille-lending library.

Because handcopied books are in very limited supply, your requests may have to be placed on a waiting list. Please be prompt to read and return handcopied books within a few weeks for the sake of other readers who are waiting. The average loan period is four weeks. In unusual circumstances, however, readers may keep their volumes longer.

Note: For the information of the reader, a notice may appear immediately following the book description to indicate occurrences of strong language, explicit descriptions of sex, or violence. The word "some" before any of these terms indicates an occasional or infrequent occurrence, as in "some strong language."

In Brief

Updike Novel Wins Awards

Novelist John Updike this year won the National Book Critics Circle and American Book awards for his latest book, Rabbit Is Rich, recently produced in braille and recorded on flexible discs and cassettes for the national collection (BR 5051, FD 17315, RC 17315). Other American Book award winners were Mornings on Horseback (BR 4691, FD 16977, RC 16977), a biography of young Teddy Roosevelt by David G. McCullough, and The Soul of a New Machine (BR 5011, FD 17316, RC 17316), a story of the race to design a new computer by Tracy Kidder.

In his twenty or more years of writing, Updike has been singled out for distinction among contemporary American novelists on several occasions. He began his career in 1955 as a staff reporter for the New Yorker magazine's "Talk of the Town" column and soon turned to fiction.

Updike's novels explore the tensions of everyday life in America. His Rabbit novels follow the frantic, harried Harry ("Rabbit") Angstrom, an ex-high school basketball hero in flight from and to married stability. On his writing, Updike comments, "I am still trying to extend my scope, seeking greater precision and exhaustiveness, wanting to be true to life, being faithful to the essential strangeness I feel in the mudane. . . ."

The following is a list of books by John Updike in the NLS collection. The asterisk after the brief description indicates the book contains passages with strong language, violence, or explicit descriptions of sex.

Braille

Buchanan Dying: A Play (BRA 13982). Last hours of the fifteenth U.S. president.

A Month of Sundays (BR 2783). A minister is officially exiled by his congregation because of his indiscretions.*

Problems and Other Stories (RC 14725). Short stories dealing with contemporary problems*

For more information about these titles and others by John Updike, call or write your braille-lending library.

Magazine Corner

News from the Muse

Poetry magazine has been selected as the replacement for 'Teen in the NLS braille magazine program. Beginning in October, this print monthly with an international audience will be produced in a braille edition.

Since its founding in 1912, Poetry has carried verse from established as well as up-and-coming poets. Issues include essays and critical reviews of poetry.

For free subscriptions to Poetry in braille, readers should write or call their cooperating libraries.

Inside the Mind

In Psychology Today, casual readers and specialists alike will find news on the latest developments in psychology and other behavioral sciences. Braille readers can order free subscriptions to this magazine produced monthly in braille.

Emphasis on topics of current interest and clear nontechnical writing have made Psychology Today the most popular print publication of its kind in this rapidly changing field. The magazine features articles on intelligence, emotions, and interpersonal relations, and carries frequent summaries of articles in other publications. Regular columns cover such subjects as the brain, current events, and personality.

For a free subscription to Psychology Today and other popular magazines produced in braille, readers should write or call their cooperating libraries.

Newsstand

The following announcements may be of interest to readers. Materials mentioned here, however, are not part of the NLS program.

Bible Study Magazine. Gospel Messenger is now being produced in braille and in cassette editions. This religious monthly offers hymns, poems, and articles on the Bible. For information on subscriptions, write to the Gospel Association for the Blind, 4705 North Federal Highway, Boca Raton, FL 33431, or call (305) 395-0022.

Woodside Books. Woodside Terrace transcribers have added several best-sellers to their handcopied braille collection. The most recent additions include 666 by Jay Anson, Kane and Abel by Jeffrey Archer, The Legacy by Howard Fast, Pavarotti by Luciano Pavarotti, and The Rosary Murders by William Kienzle. For a free list of handcopied books on loan, write to Mrs. Murray Draper, Woodside Terrace Kiwanis Braille Project, 850 Longview Road, Hillsborough, CA 94010, or call (415) 344-0803.

Books for Adults

The following books were recently produced for the NLS program. Books with the BR code are produced in press braille. Books with the BRA code are thermoform copies of braille books handcopied for NLS by volunteers. To order books with the BR and BRA codes, complete the order form and return it to your braille-lending library.

Because handcopied books are in very limited supply, your requests may have to be placed on a waiting list. Please be prompt to read and return handcopied books within a few weeks for the sake of other readers who are waiting. The average loan period is four weeks. In unusual circumstances, however, readers may keep their volumes longer.

Note: For the information of the reader, a notice may appear immediately following the book description to indicate occurrences of strong language, explicit descriptions of sex, or violence. The word "some" before any of these terms indicates an occasional or infrequent occurrence, as in "some strong language."

Press Braille Nonfiction

Merv: An Autobiography BR 4741

by Merv Griffin and Peter Barsocchini

3 volumes

The popular talk-show host tells of his childhood, his early days as an actor, his experiences as a singer and game-show MC, his debut as a guest host on the "Tonight" show, and his subsequent rise to stardom. He also includes stories and anecdotes about the celebrities whom he has interviewed over the years. 1980.

The Making of a Woman Surgeon BR 4743

by Elizabeth Morgan, M.D.

3 volumes

The author describes her long road from medical school to private practice, the demoralizing admissions practices of some major medical schools, and the challenge of being trained by the best surgeons in New England. She reveals the hospitals' shocking exploitation of interns and residents and gives a personal account of a talented young woman's initiation into the male-dominated field of surgery. Some strong language. 1980.

Paper Money BR 4808

by Adam Smith

4 volumes

The author discusses the causes of inflation, including OPEC, its methods of recycling petrodollars, and American homeowners with a vested interest in keeping real estate prices high. Although he offers no simple solutions, the author suggests we abandon our self-serving individualism and cooperatively make the sacrifices necessary to stabilize the economy. Bestseller 1981.

Mary BR 4845

by Mary E. Mebane

2 volumes

An autobiographical account of a young black woman born in the early 1930s who struggles to free herself from oppression in the back country of North Carolina. An evocation of the way life was. Mary's story is also one of triumph: she graduates with honors from a black college and later receives a Ph.D. in English literature. Written with sensitivity and humor. 1981.

Meeting God at Every Turn: A Personal Family Story BR 4927
by Catherine Marshall
3 volumes
The author shares her spiritual odyssey of fifty years, focusing on twelve crucial turns along the way. She gives insights into her life with first husband Peter Marshall, her feelings of loneliness and inadequacy as a single parent after his death, and the joys and frustrations of uniting two families into one. 1980.

Shopping Smart: The Only Consumer Guide You'll Ever Need BR 4942
by John Stossel
3 volumes
The consumer editor for CBS-TV's New York station tells how to save on food, health care, transportation, appliances, home maintenance, cosmetics, and travel. 1980.

Mornings on Horseback BR 4961
by David McCullough
5 volumes
Biography of the young Teddy Roosevelt —his childhood, education, early political career, the personal tragedy of losing his young wife, and life at the Dakota ranch to which he retreated after his candidate lost the Republican presidential nomination in 1882. Using private Roosevelt family papers, McCullough illustrates the closeness of their family life. Bestseller 1981.

Amadeus BR 4985
by Peter Shaffer
1 volume
A play inspired by music and death revolves around the bitter jealousy of Antonio Salieri, the court composer who played second fiddle to the more brilliant Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart. Shaffer's suspenseful drama incorporates two of the most persistent rumors about Mozart —that he died accusing Salieri of having poisoned him and that Salieri, on the last night of his life, confessed to the murder. Some strong language. 1980.

Strictly for Laughs BR 4989
by Joey Adams
2 volumes
The popular humorist shares a plethora of jokes and gags. In addition to contemporary comedy, with lines that play on television-movie celebrities, politicians, and current events, he includes some timeless jabs at marriage, mothers-in-law, kids, age, drinking, and ethnic groups. All of these materials may prove useful for speech writers or toastmasters. 1981.

The Mousetrap* and Other Plays BR 4992
by Agatha Christie
9 volumes
Collection of eight murder mystery plays

Books for Children

The following books were recently produced for the NLS program. Books with the BR code are produced in press braille. Books with the BRA code are thermoform copies of braille books handcopied for NLS by volunteers. To order books with the BR and BRA codes, complete the order form and return it to your braille-lending library.

Because handcopied books are in very limited supply, your requests may have to be placed on a waiting list. Please be prompt to read and return handcopied books within a few weeks for the sake of other readers who are waiting. The average loan period is four weeks. In unusual circumstances, however, readers may keep their volumes longer.

Note: For the information of the reader, a notice may appear immediately following the book description to indicate occurrences of strong language, explicit descriptions of sex, or violence. The word "some" before any of these terms indicates an occasional or infrequent occurrence, as in "some strong language."

A Christmas Carol

Cover: The simulated braille words for "Holidays and Entertainment" on the cover of this issue announce the arrival of the festive season, a time for catching up on good reading in the national braille and talking-book collection. In addition to braille and recorded magazines, the collection offers classic holiday tales and books about entertainment, indoors and outdoors.

Braille Book Review

November–December 1982
Volume 51, Number 6

Braille Book Review is published bimonthly and distributed free to blind and physically handicapped individuals who participate in the Library of Congress free reading program. It covers news of developments and activities in library services, and lists braille and recorded books and magazines available through a national network of cooperating libraries.

The current annotated listing is limited to tiles recently added to the national collection, which contains thousands of fiction and nonfiction titles, including classics, biographies, gothics, mysteries, and how-to and self-help guides. To learn more about the wide range of books in the national collection, readers may order catalogs and subject bibliographies from cooperating libraries. Librarians can check other resources for titles and answer requests for special materials.

Subscription information for Braille Book Review is located on the inside back cover. Correspondence regarding editorial matters should be sent to: Publication and Media Section, National Library Service for the Blind and Physically Handicapped, Library of Congress, Washington, DC 20542.

In Brief

Latin American Wins 1982 Nobel

This year's Nobel Prize in Literature went to Gabriel García Márquez, a Colombian author whose long novel One Hundred Years of Solitude has captivated the imagination of readers the world over since its publication in 1967. Commenting on the qualities of the author, the prize committee's citation noted: "He has . . . gradually confirmed his position as a rare storyteller, richly endowed with material from imagination and experience, which seems inexhaustible."

García Márquez's novels, like those of his Latin American contemporaries Jorge Luis Borges, Adolfo Bioy Casares, Julio Cortázar, and Carlos Fuentes, open a doorway from the mundane onto an imaginary, whimsical world. His stories weave ornately detailed lengends, often around his favorite mythical setting, the village of Macondo, somewhere in Latin America. One Hundred Years of Solitude chronicles the life of the Buendías, an ordinary village family, sometimes bonded, sometimes divided by their solitude, whom the author likens to a "machine with unavoidable repetitions, a turning wheel that would have gone spinning into eternity were it not for the progressive and irremediable wearing of the axle."

Among his later works are Innocent Erendira, based on an episode in One Hundred Years of Solitude, and The Autumn of the Patriarch, which studies the inner life of an archetypal director. Whatever their plot and subject matter, his novels and short stories share the element of mystery and magic, fantastic elements that transmute humdrum reality, charging things with a life of their own.

The English translation of his latest book Chronicle of a Death Foretold is scheduled for print publication in April 1983. The novelist plans to return to work on his next book soon, which he says is "a long novel about love, which perhaps should be named just that."

The following is a list of books by the author in the national braille and talking-book collection. An asterisk after the brief description indicates the book contains strong language, violence, or explicit descriptions of sex.

The Autumn of the Patriarch (BRA 14681). Stream-of-consciousness novel portrays the closing years of a Latin American dictator's corrupt life.*

"Innocent Erendira" and Other Stories (BRA 16390). Brooding surrealist fiction explores different faces of reality.* Also available in the original Spanish as La Increible y Triste Historia de la Cándida Erendira y de Su Abuela Desalmada: Siete Cuentos (RC 14890).

One Hundred Years of Solitude (TB 3239). The rise and fall, birth and death, of the mythical town of Macondo. For more information about books by García Márquez and other leading Latin American authors, call or write your cooperating library.

Social Security Brochures Recorded

The Social Security Administration, in cooperation with NLS, has recorded three of its publications—Your Social Security, SSI for Aged, Disabled, and Blind People, and Your Medicare Handbook. The recording, on one flexible disc, is packaged with this issue of Braille Book Review, braille edition. Disc copies of the recording are also on loan from cooperating libraries.

Your Social Security provides basic information about Social Security benefits for retirement, survivors, and disability, as well as eligibility requirements for benefits. It explains how protection is earned, who can receive monthly benefits, how benefit amounts are calculated, and when and where to contact Social Security.

SSI for Aged, Disabled, and Blind People briefly describes the supplemental security income program (SSI). It tells who can qualify for payments and how to apply. It also describes other help, such as social services and Medicaid, available to SSI recipients.

Your Medicare Handbook is comprehensive explanation of the federal health insurance program for people sixty-five or older and certain disabled people. It describes what Medicare does and does not cover and how payments are made for covered services. The handbook also has instructions on filing Medicare medical insurance claims and offers advice on buying private supplemental health insurance.

For more information about these programs and any recent amendments to Social Security and Medicare legislation, readers should call their local Social Security office.

Magazine Corner

Quarterly Choices

Every year subscribers to the braille Magazine of the Quarter has a chance to sample four different magazines not currently offered in the regular free magazine program. Each magazine arrives unannounced, since selections are made during the year and delivered in braille to subscribers direct from the producer.

Selections for 1982 were Personal Computing, a how-to monthly for beginning-to-advanced home users, Civil War Times Illustrated, containing ample reading for war buffs and general readers, Redbook, a bestselling woman's magazine, and Mainstream: Magazine of the Able Disabled, with news on legislation and the job market.

At the end of the year Magazine of the Quarter subscribers are asked to rate the magazines selected; their responses are then taken into consideration when NLS is planning the next year's selections or the addition of a new magazine to the regular braille magazine program.

For more information or a free subscription to the Magazine of the Quarter, readers should write or call a cooperating library. Watch for news of 1983 Magazine of the Quarter choices in coming issues of Braille Book Review.

Learning Braille Music Notation

The NLS Music Section has four books on braille music notation that may be especially helpful to music students and their teachers. All have been produced in print and braille editions.

How to Read Braille Music (1975) by Bettye Krolick, a beginning book written in simple language, is appropriate for blind children and adults and for sighted teachers with no knowledge of braille.

Primer of Braille Music (1971 edition), edited by Edward W. Jenkins, a beginning book written for adult readers, is useful to blind adults who know literary braille and sighted teachers who wish to learn about the braille music code.

Braille Music Chart (1960 edition), also edited by Edward W. Jenkins, is best used as a companion to the Primer (1971).

Dictionary of Braille Music Signs, by Bettye Krolick, a compilation of music signs arranged in standard braille sign order, is a reference tool for more experienced braille music readers. The Dictionary is not suitable for either transcribers or for beginning readers. Contains definitions of some 400 signs, this reference book facilitates reading music transcriptions predating the 1956 code revisions and foreign braille music publications.

For copies, loans, or more information about music services and materials, write to the Music Section, National Library Service for the Blind and Physically Handicapped, Library of Congress, Washington, DC 20542.

Children's Anthology

Expectations, an annual braille anthology of current children's literature, is now available free to any blind American child, grades 3 through 6.

Produced by the Braille Institute of America, Expectations 1982, volue 34, contains ten full-length books, book excerpts, and original poems. The jacket, designed by an award-winning artist, portrays thepleasure children derive from books as they travel through the world of fantasy, adventure, and history. This year's edition also carries a new page of microfragrance lebels and embossed pictures of a crocodile, a rhinoceros, a hard, and a rabbit.

The 1982 edition includes an excerpt from Bunnicula: A Rabbit-Tale of Mystery, by Deborah and James Howe, and the complete length books The Green Man, by Gail E. Haley, The Grizzly Bear with the Golden Ears, by Jean Craighead George, Liverwurst Is Missing, by Mercer Mayer, and Space Case, by Edward Marshall.

Expectations 1982 has been scheduled for delivery shortly after Thanksgiving. Readers wishing to order copies and have their names added to the mailing list for a yearly copy of the anthology should send their requests to Betty Kalagian, Braille Institute of America, 741 North Vermont Avenue, Los Angeles, CA 90029.

International Braille Conference at NLS

NLS hosted an international conference on English braille, grade 2, held in Washington, DC, September 13–17. The conference was sponsored by the Braille Authority of North America and the Braille Authority of the United Kingdom, and attended by delegates from eight countries.

According to conference coordinator Richard Evensen, the conference marked "a new era of international cooperation that will benefit all who use contracted English braille." The delegates discussed, among other matters, possible code changes and promoting greater uniformity between the American and British systems. The conference concluded with the adoption of resolutions concerning code changes, research on braille codes, and an international coordinating committee to develop proposals for the formation of a permanent international braille body.

Copies of the conference proceedings will be produced in print and in braille during 1983 and made available at cost. For more information, write to Richard H. Evensen, Braille Authority of North America, c/o National Library Service for the Blind and Physically Handicapped, Library of Congress, Washington, DC 20542.

Hockey and Basketball Schedules, 1982/83

This year's National Hockey League and National Basketball Association schedules have been brailled and shipped to braille-lending libraries. The new hockey and basketball regular seasons span nearly seven months, starting in October and ending in April, followed by playoffs and championships.

With each season, sports fans can order free sports schedules in braille. As soon as the schedules are ready for release to the media, cooperating leagues and associations send them to NLS for production and distribution to braille-lending libraries. The libraries also have information about braille magazines and books that cover sports events and personalities.

Newsstand

The following announcements may be of interest to readers. Materials mentioned here, however, are not part of the NLS program.

Rape Prevention. The braille brochure How to Protect Yourself against Rape provides basic information and helpful advice. The brochure can be ordered free from the Louisville YWCA Rape Relief Center, 604 South Third Street, Louisville, KY 40202.

VD Brochure. The Chicago Department of Health is distributing free braille copies of The Facts about VD: Its Detection and Cure. The eight-page pamphlet outlines facts and advice for the general reader and refers readers to local public health services. For a braille copy, write to the Chicago Department of Health, Sexually Transmitted Disease Control Program, 27 East Twenty-sixth Street, Chicago, IL 60616.

Books for Adults

The following books were recently produced for the NLS program. Books with the BR code are produced in press braille. Books with the BRA code are thermoform copies of braille books handcopied for NLS by volunteers. To order books with the BR and BRA codes, complete the order form and return it to your braille-lending library.

Because handcopied books are in very limited supply, your requests may have to be placed on a waiting list. Please be prompt to read and return handcopied books within a few weeks for the sake of other readers who are waiting. The average loan period is four weeks. In unusual circumstances, however, readers may keep their volumes longer.

Note: For the information of the reader, a notice may appear immediately following the book description to indicate occurrences of strong language, explicit descriptions of sex, or violence. The word "some" before any of these terms indicates an occasional or infrequent occurrence, as in "some strong language."

The Watcher BRA 17233
by Kay Nolte Smith
6 volumes
One balmy evening in Manhattan, social scientist Dr. Martin Granger plunges from his townhouse terrace to his death on a sharp fence below. Did he fall or was he pushed? And was reporter Astrid, acting as secretary to Granger and writing an exposé of him, involved? Paul Damon, former lover of Astrid's and now head of the investigating team, uncovers the murderer. Some strong language. 1980.

The Best Short Stories of J. G. Ballard BRA 17234
by J. G. Ballard
7 volumes
The author selects nineteen of his most broadly representative futuristic stories. In "The Garden of Time" a doomed aristocrat plucks crystalline flowers whose magic holds off advancing hordes. "The Drowned Giant" offers the corpse of a colossus washed up on the beach and the imagined human response to its presence. Explicit descriptions of sex and some strong language. 1978.

Caper BRA 17235
by Lesley Andress
7 volumes
When Jannie Shean's crime novels stop selling, she persuades her editor-friend to help plot a theft. The exercise is to help her inject realism into her novels, but excursions into Manhattan's underworld connect the pair with a gang of crooks who force them to heist a fortune in gems. Strong language and some explicit descriptions of sex. 1980.

Kate Hannigan BRA 17239
by Catherine Cookson

Kate is determined to use her beauty to rise above her slum environment. Deserted by a wealthy man before the birth of her child, she falls hopelessly in love with a young doctor who is married. 1950.

Books for Children

The following books were recently produced for the NLS program. Books with the BR code are produced in press braille. Books with the BRA code are thermoform copies of braille books handcopied for NLS by volunteers. To order books with the BR and BRA codes, complete the order form and return it to your braille-lending library.

Because handcopied books are in very limited supply, your requests may have to be placed on a waiting list. Please be prompt to read and return handcopied books within a few weeks for the sake of other readers who are waiting. The average loan period is four weeks. In unusual circumstances, however, readers may keep their volumes longer.

Note: For the information of the reader, a notice may appear immediately following the book description to indicate occurrences of strong language, explicit descriptions of sex, or violence. The word "some" before any of these terms indicates an occasional or infrequent occurrence, as in "some strong language."
